DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

In this case the abstract is more than 150 words.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 1-16 are objected to because of the following informalities: 1) the period after section "b" of claim 1 should be a comma; and 2) in claim 16 the phrase "towards of " should be deleted in line 4. Claims 2-15 are necessarily included due to their dependency. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 2875

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Burton (U.S. Patent 6,347,876).

Regarding claim 1, a first, primary mirror (reference number 41) having a first, primary magnification factor (column 3, lines 45-50), an illumination source (reference number 64) effective in illuminating an object field in front of a front, reflecting side of the primary mirror (Fig. 4), a second, secondary mirror (reference number 42) having a second, secondary mirror magnification factor different from the primary mirror magnification factor (column 3, lines 45-55), means for releasably securing the secondary mirror in front of the primary mirror at an adjustable position (reference number 46, Fig. 3) and light conveying means (reference number 66) enabling the illumination source to illuminate an object field in front of a front, reflecting side of the secondary mirror (Figs. 2 and 4, column 3, lines 45-50).

Regarding claim 2, Burton discloses the illumination source further defined as being peripherally arranged with respect to the primary mirror (Fig. 2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Burton in view of Le Baron (U.S. Patent 2,487,883).

Regarding claim 4, Burton does not disclose a light source that is concentric with the mirror. Le Baron discloses an illumination source that is generally concentric with and at least partially circumscribing a peripheral edge of the primary mirror (reference characters A, B and C, Fig. 1).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the lights of Le Baron in the apparatus of Burton to illuminate the whole mirror more brightly.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 3 and 5-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter. The prior art fails to disclose a light transmissive region peripherally located with respect to the secondary mirror as recited in claims 3 and 5.
